DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-12, 14-20, 22, 23, and 25-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Wendt.

Wendt teaches a sensor arrangement (Claims 1, 12, 22 and 25: see Figure 8) comprising; a substrate (Claims 1, 12, 22 and 25: see Figure 6); a plurality of sensor elements, each sensor provided as an integrated circuit in the substrate (Claims 1, 12, 22 and 25: see col. 9, lines 50-53); electronic circuitry comprising: i) a processing circuit arranged on the substrate and connected to at least one of the sensor element (Claims 1, 12, 22 and 25: see Figure 1: Neural Processor Network), ii) an input/output interface arranged on the substrate and connected to the processing circuit (Claims 1, 12 and 16: see col. 3, lines 44-47); and a power supply unit arranged on the substrate and configured to supply operating power only to electronic circuitry associated with sensor elements which are in use (Claims 1, 12, 22 and 25: see col. 3, lines 34-40).

Wendt teaches a sensor arrangement in which the plurality of sensor elements is distributed over the substrate in a predetermined manner (Claims 2, 13, 23, 26 and 33: see Figure 6).

Wendt teaches a sensor arrangement, in which the electronic circuitry associated with each one of the plurality of sensor elements is distributed over the substrate in a predetermined manner (Claims 3, 14 and 27: see Figure 6).

Wendt teaches a sensor arrangement wherein the sensor is an optical sensor (Claim 4: see Figure 17: Image sensor).

Wendt teaches a sensor arrangement wherein the substrate is configured to fit into a wafer chuck of a lithographic apparatus (Claims 5, 15, 19 and 29: see Figure 6).

Wendt teaches a sensor arrangement wherein at least one of the processing circuit, the input/output interface, and the power supply unit is provided as an integrated circuit in the substrate (Claims 6 and 30: see col. 3, lines 33-44).

Wendt teaches a sensor arrangement wherein the processing circuit is connected to a memory configured to store at least one among software code and data (Claims 7, 17 and 31: see Figure 6: Memory 19).

Wendt teaches a sensor arrangement wherein the input/output interface is arranged to exchange data with an external device using a wireless communication technique (Claims 8, 18, 20 and 32: see col. 4, lines 46-49).

Wendt teaches a sensor arrangement, wherein the sensor arrangement further comprises a chuck on which the sensor arrangement is disposed, the chuck being mountable to a wafer stage of a lithographic apparatus (Claim 9 and 14: see Figure 6).

Wendt teaches a sensor arrangement wherein the chuck comprises an interface configured to connect the sensor arrangement to a data network of the lithographic apparatus (Claims 10, 20 and 34: see col. 3, lines 35-44).

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 21 and 24 are allowed.
4. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The prior art of record does not teach a power supply unit configured to supply operating power to at least one other component of the sensor arrangement, wherein the power supply unit is arranged to convert a wireless signal having a first predetermined frequency into a supply voltage for a first part of the sensor arrangement and to convert wireless energy having a second predetermined frequency into a supply voltage for a second part of the sensor arrangement different from the first part.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-20, 22, 23, and 25-34 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
